MAY 10th ~ 8:30 p.m. • Downtown Nashville

CONTRIBUTED — Nationally known country music artists Matt Stell will headline the 27th Annual Nashville Blooming Festival on Saturday, May 10th at 8:30 p.m.

Stell's heroes and influences stretch from Johnny Cash and Elvis Presley, through Alanis Morissette and Oasis, to Miranda Lambert and Jason Isbell. But through the endless one-nighters, opening slots, and writers' rooms that constitute paying dues, he learned what true artists always learn—that the best tribute is not imitation but transformation—finding the place inside that connects with those influences and turns them into a unique and honest voice. He has learned that lesson well.

"The music I make now is mine because I believe it and it's true," he says. "That's what I can contribute, and that's how I see myself fitting in. The currency of the realm is authenticity, and I think there's room for mine."

That's something he proved with back-to-back No. 1s that put him in the forefront of this era's artist-songwriters, and he proves it again with One Of Us an EP that establishes him as an artist of real depth and vision.

The breakthrough came with the two-time platinum "Prayed For You," the only debut single to top the Billboard Country Airplay chart in 2019. The platinum follow-up, "Everywhere But On," made him one of just a handful of new artists to hit the top twice in a row in six years. In the process, he racked up more than half a billion total global streams across his catalog while surpassing 27 million views alone for the official music video for "Prayed For You."

He quickly became one of his generation's busiest and most visible artists, appearing on Good Morning America, The Kelly Clarkson Show, Bachelor in Paradise, and The Late Show with Stephen Colbert's #LateShowMe-Music digital series. Along the way, he performed the national anthem for major NFL and NASCAR events, plus debuted at the Grand Ole Opry with about 150 friends and family members in attendance from his hometown.

One Of Us, the six-song collection that is the latest step in his musical journey, shows Stell at his creative best, with songs that bring alive a landscape of small-town dreams, friendship, love, and heartbreak. The title track is an anthem for those who share and celebrate the day-to-day realities of small-town life. "Man Made" honors the strength and inspiration provided by the woman behind even the most accomplished man, and "Somewhere Over The Radio" deals with the siren call of leaving to pursue dreams bigger than a hometown, "about how hard that decision is, and the people you leave behind but really take with you wherever you go."

"Shut The Truck Up," "This One's Gonna Hurt," and "Roots In This Ground" round out a project equally divided between songs Stell wrote and songs he chose from talented peers in the songwriting community.

Stell's musical journey began in Center Ridge, Arkansas, where his family has lived for generations. While absorbing the work ethic and positive attitude he saw as cornerstones of that life, he was also absorbing the Country music he heard on both sides of the family.

"Classic Country was the first soundtrack to my life when I was little," he recalls, "and my mom took me to my first concert, which was Randy Travis and Alan Jackson. But the first record I ever bought was Alanis Morissette's Jagged Little Pill. Then there were bands like Hootie & The Blowfish, and I grew up playing basketball, so I heard a lot of Rap. I've always been drawn to Indie-Alternative music, and I fell in love with Texas Americana. What ties that altogether is an independent streak tied to a place. This EP and the things I'm working on now are about pouring all of that music I love into the best songs I can write and sing."

Stell earned an athletic scholarship to Drury University, where he played four years of college basketball. While there, he jump-started his musical life with an old guitar he picked up during downtime on a Christmas break. He began writing songs and playing frat houses, sports bars, and other local gigs almost immediately.

What followed was the process of "honing my skills in terms of being able to play on a barstool. Then, I worked on the farm some, did some construction, and was able to get busy enough to just play music." He played throughout the mid-South, and his love for Red Dirt and Indie music deepened. "There were all these guys making their own records and having people coming to see them play. I loved that independent spirit." He released three solo albums and visited Nashville, Tennessee, off-and-on to write and make connections, and by 2014, he was ready to move there full-time.

"I immersed myself in songwriting and supported myself playing music, working in a pro audio store and as an Uber driver, and, because I had a master's degree, as adjunct faculty at Nashville Tech."

A couple of years in, though, he considered packing it in, and a mission trip to Haiti nearly took him in a new direction.

"I worked alongside doctors, nurses, and pharmacists and what I saw convinced me that if I was ever going to do something with my life that wasn't music, it would be something hard that would help people." He applied and was accepted into Harvard University's Extension School Pre-Med program. Just six weeks before he was to begin, he got offered a publishing deal.

"I was really thinking I was writing songs like that for other artists," he says, "since my music is usually a little more love gone wrong than love gone right, but I put it out on an EP, and it changed my life. The door opened to being an artist and to make music people would hear. It was a huge change of perspective, with new opportunities and challenges, difficult but rewarding, and definitely not how I thought it would play out."

Then came the moment that proved music was indeed his calling. Along with Allison Veltz Cruz and Ash Bowers, Stell wrote "Prayed For You."

He followed that with "Everywhere But On," which went to No. 1 as well, giving him one of the most explosive breakthroughs any singer could hope for. There followed tours with Chris Young, Eli Young Band, Old Dominion, and Miranda Lambert, before he headed out on his own 17-date Man Made Tour in 2022. There was also a growing fan base and heightened expectations for his new material.

As might be expected from his mission trip and nearly chosen career, Stell is adamant about giving back. His Give A Damn Foundation, launched in 2020, supports charitable efforts including St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Doctors Without Borders, and the Humane Society, among others. Professionally, his focus remains making the best music possible.

"The goal," he says, "is to make as much emotional connection as I can. Since this is the music business, there's always that tension between making music you're proud of and music people want to consume. I believe emotional honesty and musical integrity are the way to do both. My roots are in the Classic Country I heard as a child in Arkansas, but those roots have been watered with a lot of other influences along the way, and there's new growth every year. I spent a lot of time looking for a voice and I feel like I've found it, and everything I do going forward will be a reflection of that."

MAGGIE BAUGH • MAY 10TH

SATURDAY, MAY 10TH • 6PM

CONTRIBUTED – From Classical to Country Music, Maggie Baugh has caught the music industry’s attention for her independent success. Baugh’s social media prowess is immense with her TikTok series, “Finish the Lick” that has garnered her more than 40 million views across all social platforms, showing off her proficiency on multiple instruments.

Baugh released her debut album, “Dear Me” that was featured across multiple editorial playlisting including Spotify “Next From Nashville,” “New Music Friday Country,” Apple Music “New In Country”, “Fresh From Nashville” Amazon Music “Breakthrough Pop,” “Breakthrough Country” and landed over 500K streams in its first day, reaching #19 iTunes on the US Country Album Charts and #9 on the Australian Country Album Charts.

Most recently, Baugh caught the attention of Keith Urban who asked her to join him on tour as his utility player. In the past year, Baugh has appeared on the CMT Awards, Jimmy Fallon, Jimmy Kimmel, the Todays Show, Nissan Stadium, and Kelly Clarkson, just to name a few.

As an Artist, she has performed on stages such as the Country Music Hall of Fame and the Grand Ole Opry. Looking ahead in 2025, Baugh looks forward to releasing her sophomore album, produced by herself, and hitting the road on her Headlining “Entertainers Heart” World Tour. Performing in venues such as dive bars, theaters, festivals and everything in-between, Baugh will show the world what it means to be a true entertainer.

Montserrat Campos designs 2025 festival T-Shirt

MONSERRAT CAMPOS
2025 BLOOMING FESTIVAL
T-SHIRT DESIGNER

This year's T-shirt design was inspired by art submitted by Monserrat Campos of Middlesex.

Campos is a Southern Nash High School graduate and currently attends Nash Community College majoring in Graphic Design. She plans to continue her education in graphic design.

Montserrat will ride in the parade on Saturday, May 10th. T-shirts will be available for purchase at the chamber tent during the festival. Shirts are $20 each.

A contest is held by the chamber each year open to all Nash County residents to submit their drawing, sketch or vision for the shirt.

MOTHER OF THE YEAR

Hillary Webb is 2025 Mother of the Year

2025 Mother of the Year
Hillary Webb

The Nashville Chamber of Commerce will celebrate its 2025 Mother of the Year during a short ceremony at 9:50 a.m. Saturday, May 10th at the Blooming Festival stage in downtown Nashville.

This year's award will be presented to Hillary Webb who grew up in Momeyer.

Hillary has been married to Jessie Webb for 22 years and they have two children, Taylor and Payton. Hillary and Jessie resided in Hawaii during the first years of their marriage due to his military tour.

Once they were back home and had begun starting a family, she walked away from a full-time career in banking to raise her children. She said devoting 100 percent of her time to her children has been the most rewarding thing in her life.

Hillary said she has often been referred to as the "classroom mom," always lending a hand, never missing any of her children's school events.

When asked about her hobbies, she responded that her favorite thing is life is being with her family.

The chamber solicits nominations from the public each year for its Mother of the Year Award. Once the deadline passes for nominations, one is drawn from all entries received.

Everybody LOVES a parade!

Be sure to come early Saturday to get a good seat for the annual Blooming Festival parade. The parade route includes Washington, Alston, Church and Boddie Streets. Streets included in the parade route will be closed to traffic by 10 a.m. and some earlier, so get here early!

The route will begin at the intersection of First and Washington Streets, then turn from Washington to Alston at the Corner of CVS Pharmacy. The parade will again turn at the corner of Alston and Church and pass by Cooley Library. It will then turn on Boddie Street and proceed by the main stage returning to Elm Street.

The parade will include clowns, fire trucks, beautiful floats and marching bands as the 27th annual Blooming Festival parade kicks off at 11:30 a.m. May 10th.

Parade participants also include local churches and organizations plus many other enjoyable entries. Returning Sudan favorites include the Dunn Clowns, small cars or prowlers as well as monster trucks and animated animals!

Children watching the parade may be treated to something sweet as well. Parade participants are sure to be tossing candy while cruising down the parade route.

For those who want to watch the parade in the shade, be sure to try the residential part of Washington Street.

There will be professional floats as well as homemade floats and cars with local organizations and town officials such as the mayor and town council.

PARADE STARTS AT 11:30 AM
SATURDAY, MAY 10TH

Miss Mini & the Sandman Band

Grab your dancing shoes ready for after the Blooming Festival Parade on Saturday, May 10 at 1 p.m. Miss Mini & the Sandman Band will crank up their high energy lineup which includes includes your favorite cover music and a few original songs!

Born in Rocky Mount, Catrese Green West was given the nickname “Minnesota Fats” by her grandmother, which eventually shortened to “Mini” and stuck with her over the years. Her musical journey began by singing with her father in 1990 with James Parker’s Electric Image Band, with whom she had the opportunity to travel throughout the Southern United States and be exposed to diverse audiences and music genres.

She has formed her own band and released her own music. Her “Can’t Stop Me” album, released in 2015, produced her hit single “Ole School Style,” which reached #1 on Soul Dog’s Smokin’ Top 45 Southern Soul Hits countdown for two months straight and, along with other album singles, continue to receive national airplay on Beach and Southern Soul stations.

Miss Mini has performed at Blues festivals alongside greats such as Roy C., Maurice Wynn, and Clarence Carter and has filled guest spots with the likes of Jim Quick & the Coastline Band, Big Time Party Band, and the Marsha Morgan Band. She was opener for the 2016 Carolina Beach Music Awards and was nominated for Best Female Vocalist, Best Club Song, and Best Debut in the 2016 Daddy B. Nice Southern Soul awards alongside industry veterans Ms. Jody and Nellie Tiger Travis.

Her song, “Put Something Cold in Your Hand,” is available for streaming in most digital music platforms.

Saturday, May 10th at 1 p.m.

The Embers with Craig Woolard

There are many bands or groups today yet few that are considered a musical institution. The Embers have solidified their position as a thriving musical entity leaving their mark on listeners for decades.

The Embers boast numerous albums and single releases that span decades and all the crazes continuing to exhibit top quality showmanship, musicianship and professionalism. Having been inducted into the South Carolina Rhythm and Blues Hall of Fame and the South Carolina Beach Music Hall of Fame, The Embers carry the moniker of North Carolina's Official Ambassadors of Music. They have traveled the country and the world and has performed for every event imaginable from the highest dignitaries to the hottest back yard frat parties. The Embers were also honored to travel throughout South Korea to perform their Christmas special 'Christmas with the Embers' on American Military bases for America's troops in December of 2007 and 2008. They were awarded Military Coins of Excellence for their distinguished service.

The Embers are widely considered a musical marvel and have laid the groundwork for what has become known as 'Beach Music' in the Carolinas, Virginias, the gulf coast region of North America and every beach in between. They are a true musical tradition with which many Americans have listened to from childhood to adulthood. The Embers consider the genre of Beach Music as "music with a memory" and have been creating lasting memories since its inception in 1958. Simply put – Heart and Soul, Rhythm and Blues, Feel Good Music.

Today, touring is commonplace for The Embers regularly boasting an average of 225 shows per year. They also embark on a cruise each year for their friends and fans to various locations throughout the Caribbean. And don't miss their Christmas shows – perfect to get you in the mood for the holiday season.

All of the merchants and businesses for sponsorships and support.

All the volunteers who spent endless hours helping organize this year's event!

NO PETS PLEASE!

The Nashville Blooming Festival attracts thousands of people to downtown Nashville over the two-day event and the weather is usually on the warm side. Also due to live entertainment and a carnival, the noise can be stressful to animals. The Town of Nashville and the Nashville Police Department requests that visitors of the festival do not bring pets to the event to ensure safety of the animals as well as visitors. Service animals are allowed.

For more information or if you have questions, you may contact the Nashville Police Department, 252-459-4545.
